CONGRATULATIONS

TO EACH MEMBER OF THE CLASS OF 1945:

Congratulations for your success in your educational program thus far, and my best wishes to you as you continue in your various activities!

Please keep in mind that throughout your entire life there is ever the opportunity to improve your knowledge, to profit from your experiences, and to strengthen your character.

AMBROSE B. WARREN, Head Master

THE SPONSORS OF

MISS MARGARET KANE

The Class of 1945 will gratefully remember Miss Kane for her wisdom in helping us solve our senior class problems, for her sincere and sympathetic interest in each one of us, and for her gentleness.

THE CLASS OF 1945

MR. FRANCIS E. REYNOLDS

Mr. Reynolds has guided many of us along the perilous paths of science, and in the laboratory as well as in our senior class councils we have profited by his quiet humor, his supreme patience, and his excellent judgment.

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS

Today we have reached another of life's milestones. Our road now definitely turns from childhood, and as we stand at that turning facing the future, we realize that it must be with the maturity of manhood and womanhood. In spite of the chaotic state of the world, we have, so far, been singularly blessed. We have had twelve years of wholesome, unhampered, formal education. We have had happy, carefree years in spite of the world crisis about us. It is our duty now to help shoulder the burden which others have borne so long that we might enjoy a normal youth.

For many of us, school life ends today. I say school life advisedly, not education. Our education is never completed. What we have learned through the efforts of our teachers and through our own honest endeavors is merely a preparation for the school we are all about to enter, — the great School of Life.

We do not know today how long a span of life God has apportioned to us. We must accept each day as a gift and make of it a worth-while memory. We are old enough to realize the seriousness of conditions. We are old enough to go to war to help preserve a decent mode of living for all peoples. Then certainly we are old enough to appreciate the value of life.

Whether our next few years are spent here doing the homely everyday tasks with which we are familiar, or in an area of combat fighting for the survival of our ideals, let us do our work well. No task is too insignificant. Each must do his particular work as if the life of a nation depended solely upon his efforts.

Remember—a chain is as strong as its weakest link. Let no one in the Class of 1945 be the link to break the chain which holds securely the Free America of tomorrow. Let us rather, today, solemnly consecrate our lives to the memory of the Roslindale High School boys who have offered the supreme sacrifice. Let us say with Lincoln that these dead shall not have died in vain, and, with God's help, "Government of the people, for the people, and by the people shall not perish from the earth."

CLASS HISTORY

An untamed horde of sophomores swarmed through the gleaming corridors of Roslindale High School, yanking doors off their hinges in their eagerness to find their home rooms. (Any resemblance between this picture and that of the present graduating class is purely coincidental.) However, in this magnificently sedate gang, there appeared to be a serious shortage of girls — a phenomenal condition to exist in 1942 A.D. The answer to that was The Annex — a women's paradise. All these eager students (and we use that term loosely), craving for knowledge, proceeded immediately to become model students for all future Rossie-ites to follow.

We groaned and creaked from 10:10 to 10:20 in setting-up drill exercises. These muscle-pullers were meant to make us flexible and strong, but only promoted the sales of liniment to youths under sixteen years of age.

We suffered with avoir, A Tale of Two Cities, debits and credits, isosceles triangles, and a never-ending parade of homelessons. Some emerged triumphant and embraced the Honor Roll or Merit List, precariously but defiantly. From their high perch, they taunted the failures for whom report-card day is always D-Day.

However, while swimming through the merciless barrage of duties, we didn't forget that there was a war on. How could we? Every time we had an Air Raid Drill the faculty was alarmed at the reported injuries to the most honorable chassis of Roslindale High. We'll never forget the nice soft seats that were provided for our maximum comfort, as we sat, side by side, along the corridor floors. Many of the valiant girls who managed to emerge unscathed after an Air Raid Drill joined the Surgical Dressings Unit.

They rolled bandages like fury until the Red Cross sent them a note of thanks. Others, realizing the horrors of war (namely the Air Raid Drill) raided their piggy banks, and bought so many bonds and stamps that we paid for several jeeps. Don't ever tell us that there is a war on!

For the male contingent, mention of their sophomore year will bring one unpleasant memory. The boys will never forget the agonizing moments they spent, with their mouths watering, listening to the clatter of dishes and happy voices as the girls munched and crunched the delicious food. The only thought which held them from revolt was — ladies first!

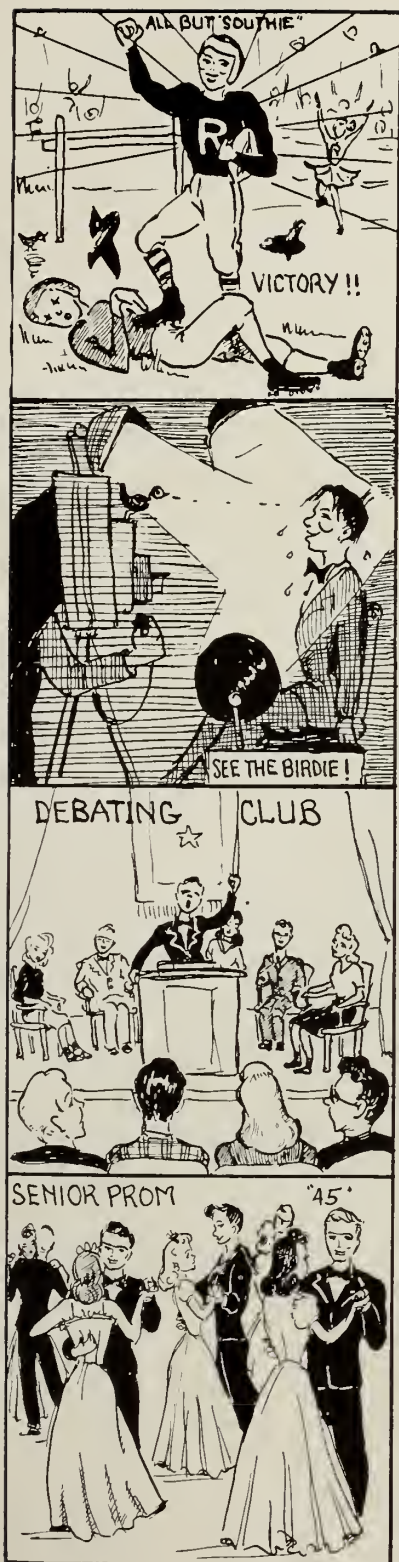

And so with their honorable craniums one-third filled with facts and figures, the sophomores of 1943 sallied forth into their junior year.

We greeted Roslindale High in September as joyous juniors. United this year, many of us having bidden a fond farewell to Mother Annex, we advanced to meet the challenges of this our junior year. Our brave front soon crumbled as we saw more gym, two periods of the beloved subject Health Education, and American History loaded on our shoulders. The days were made to stretch on indefinitely with the omission of setting-up drill and homeroom periods.

The lines of our army were fast crumbling and falling to ruin. Down we went, line after line. A battle, you ask? No, just the Spelling Bee! This yearly instrument of torture was being used to determine the pupil possessing the greatest fortitude to weather the storm.

The question of government-subsidized college educations was solved for the nation when our first Junior Town Meeting assembled. Arguments waxed fast and furiously with debaters submerged under a deluge of questions. We, as juniors, were proud of our ability, for we produced the winning debater for the school.

Not all the hard work and long hours in school were spent on school work! In passing the hall late in the day, one might hear quotations from Shakespeare or heated discussions about scenery, lighting, or properties as the Dramatic Club rehearsed. After being coaxed by the Misses Reilly, Reid, Hamrock, and Company to buy tickets, we attended Elmer, Accent on Revenge, and the Rossie version of Julius Caesar. How can we forget the talented members of the class of '45 as they gracefully made their exit, uttering lines Shakespeare supposedly wrote?

Spring brought us the opportunity to exercise our right of franchise as carefully taught in our H 8 and H 4 classes. Posters, soap-box orations, and the speeches in the hall, accompanied by the knocking of knees and the snapping of finger nails, aided us in our decision. The girls must have voted for the weaker sex, for we came out of the ordeal with three out of four male class officers: President John McCloskey; Vice-president Peter DeGeorge; Treasurer Vail Haäk; and Secretary Jean Schnetzer.

The midnight oil was burned in many homes, much to our parents' dismay, as we crammed for the inevitable bi-monthlies in History. To top this, there were the Hearst American History Exam and the Washington-Franklin Medal Exam, in which we dared fate to let us win.

Prize Drill and the Schoolboy Parade with the boys in their new army-style drill-suits soon came. It was June! We enviously watched the seniors depart, but were consoled with the thought that we would reign supreme as seniors in September.

September came and we sailed blissfully into our senior year, hoping for the best and prepared for the worst. The new administration under the leadership of John McCloskey, Peter DeGeorge, Vail Haäk, and Jean Schnetzer with the advice of Miss Kane and Mr. Reynolds, began to solve all problems.

The victorious football team, after many long hours of strenuous practice, proceeded to beat all opponents with the exception of a certain group of rivals from the vicinity of South Boston. We are all very proud of the record that the boys established, and thoroughly enjoyed watching them prove their athletic ability.

Basketball, after an absence of many years, returned to the schools of Boston to become part of the regular sports program. Our own newly organized team, under the supervision of Mr. Cunningham, practiced in preparation for the scheduled games with other schools in the city. We are quite confident that in a very short time basketball will assume as high a position in the opinions of the sports enthusiasts as baseball, football, and hockey.

Soon we were notified that our pictures for the Year Book must be taken. Each day, different groups trooped into the studio, with the girls' hair almost invariably looking worse than it had in months, and the boys unable to present a reasonable facsimile of The Conquering Hero. Several weeks later, we were astonished at the horrible countenances which were returned to us, but which the photographers purported to be our likenesses.

We soon discovered that we had many fine orators in our midst, after attending the Junior Town Meeting presented by the Debating Club. The speakers were admired by the entire audience for the clear, concise, and intelligent manner in which they presented their arguments. If such a program of discussing the pros and cons of national problems were to be installed in every educational institution in America, we would never have any fears of democracy's being shelved in favor of a radical type of government in this country.

The Senior Class Prom, held at Longwood Towers on January twelfth, was a grand success because of the efforts of the Prom committee. After we had danced for several hours to the melodies of Russell Kelsey's orchestra, the Grand March, a colorful spectacle, was led by our esteemed president, John McCloskey. Following this, there was a brief intermission, during which we served delicious fruit punch. Dancing was then resumed until the magic hour of twelve when the footsore but happy couples departed to dream of their Senior Prom.

As our senior year draws rapidly to a close, we look forward to Class Day and eagerly await our graduation. Thus, we, the sedate seniors of today, leave to become the freshmen in the world of tomorrow. And you shall be proud of us, O Roslindale, for out of our ranks shall arise the intelligentsia of the nation—the future Einsteins, Dorothy Thompsons, and Henry Fords. So, our minds saturated with wisdom, our hearts filled with a mingling of joy and sadness, we make a dramatic exit bidding you au revoir, adios, auf wiedersehen, vale, and farewell.

CLASS PROPHECY

Apollo, the god of prophecy, because of his great love for Cassandra, bestowed upon her the ability to foretell the future. Cassandra failed to return his love and, because of this, a curse was put upon her power: — no one, hereafter, was to believe what she foretold. This great gift of prophecy Cassandra has graciously transmitted unto us. We assure you, however, that no curse hangs over our heads. You may have complete confidence in our ability. What we are about to tell you is the truth, the whole truth, and — anything but the truth.

Now let us go into profound concentration. Let us pierce the mysteries of the future, and scan the various fields of occupation into which the graduates of '45 have ventured.

Ten long years have gone by since we left the hallowed halls of Rossie High.

In stage, radio, and music, we find several alumni. Peter DeGeorge has certainly taken a huge jump from the usher he used to be back in '45. He now owns an exclusive theatre in New York, Peter's Hot Box. Last week he produced that nostalgic drama, "Oh, How Lovely Were Our School Days", composed by the renowned writer, Paula Winston. The leading lady was Ursula Gorman, who has become a second Helen Hayes. Miss Gorman's gowns were designed by Ruth Gottschald and stitched by Geraldine Griffin, who has finally found a needle and thread after her long and tedious search in high school.

It is interesting to note that the startling stage settings were conceived by Lorraine McKinnon, Stella Kanavos, and June Williamson, Roslindale's gifts to the world of art.

This week a musical performance has thrilled the audience at Peter's theatre. Among the song-birds in the chorus are Barbara Larson and Diana Bousard. During intermission a young ladies' orchestra, with Virginia Consolian as its leader, renders the music. The popular violinists are Virginia Miller, Helen Kremer, and Mary Lou Riordan.

According to "Down-Beat", that chronicle of swingsters edited by Robert Silver, the Consolian Concerteers have had keen competition since Vail Haak stepped into the spotlight with his band. Among "Haak's Hardy Hepcats" are Muriel McGovern, "swingeroo" pianist, and Frank Williams, Broadway's number one clarinetist.

In a more sophisticated sort of music, the Bach, Beethoven and Brahms type, Arlene Susi has appeared several times at the Boston Opera House.

Featured with Paul Wurlitzer's famous orchestra is Anita Faherty. We knew that she could never bear to give up her beloved violin.

On the dancing stage, Dorothy Feist and Geraldine Coveney have steadily worked their way up. They have become two of the world's greatest ballerinas and are now on their third European tour.

The Chisholm Comedians have a radio program, sponsored by "Double Bubble Pop Gum". Television being the vogue, we can see that the years have been kind to our classmate twins — they still possess their three "V's", Vim, Vigor, and Vitality. Women announcers are not uncommon; even Eleanor Hotz has finally found a microphone. She has teamed up with the twins on their broadcast. Ruth Casey makes the program complete with her singing.

Priscilla Shaw, Daniel Reilly, Mildred Buckley and Alba Fraccastoro are still debating. "Town Meeting of the Air" proves a wonderful opportunity to express their talents. Why not tune in next week? It may bring back memories of the fine debates they gave us at several assemblies at R. H. S. By the way, the Honorable Dan Reilly is running for Congressman in the coming election. Be sure to give him a vote!

But — enough of these radio celebrities — Let us delve our psychic powers into that realm of facts, figures, and typewriters — the clerical world! Here we find a large number of our classmates. In 1950 Joan Prindeville opened a small public-accounting office, which has since become very well known and requires the aid of many efficient assistants. Among them are Mary Cusack, Jeanne McDermott, Evangeline O'Connor, and Irene Matus as secretaries; and Jean Daly, Margaret Carlson, and Mary Beeman as book-keepers. What a combination!

Mary Manning, Ruth Naylor, Virginia Pearl, Marjorie Sullivan, Mina Watt, and Ruth Galvin have all been clever enough to secure positions as private secretaries. Aren't their bosses lucky?

Eleanor Cushing has, after completing her schooling, become head buyer for Filene & Co. Anne Coleman certainly makes a very convincing sales-girl in their French Shop. Here, too, Mary Amante and Ingrid Gustafson are still giving with their smooth salestalks.

Elaine Palmieri has been rather successful in introducing the "New-Easy-Method Business Machines" to several post-war firms established in Alaska. Incidentally, some of our other classmates, Shirley Uriot, Estelle Neely, and Clara Morris, have ventured to this newly-opened territory, doing secretarial work for the firms which have been established since World War II.

After successfully completing business school Mary Bazzinotti, Eleanor Falcone and Elaine Caulfield have acquired excellent positions in the First National Bank.

Patricia Burns, Claire Epp, Dorothy Perry, and Virginia Robinson are capably fulfilling positions as private secretaries to the mayors of our four largest cities.

While scanning our clerical field, we begin to wonder if it has been monopolized by our classmates of '45, for here too, we find Mary Cronin, Phyllis Grankewicz, Florence Boudreau, Marie Mercadante, and Anna West. The Pentagon Building in Washington is the place they toil from nine to five, and such competent secretaries there just never were!

The cheery voices that answer the telephones for the Tell-U-Where Co. are those of Lorraine Bingham, Barbara Heckman and Virginia Spellman. They put in many a busy day at the switch-board advising callers where to find what they want when they can't find it. Also employed by the same concern are Dorothy Luscomb and Marion Walsh, — two highly efficient secretaries, we might add.

The thought of leaving R. H. S. for good must have been too much to bear for Grace Harrington and Phyllis MacDermid back in '45, for here we find them, ten years later, having taken over Miss Walsh's and Mrs. Gleekman's positions in the office.

At long last, we leave the clerical atmosphere and extend our powers to penetrate the field of inventions and amazing discoveries. We had quite a few geniuses in our Senior class, as you recall —

Patricia McManus no longer fears the hot sun rays that bring summer weather and — SUNBURNS! She has discovered a medicine that can be bought now in any drugstore. Just look for "Patricia's Powerful Potion for the Prevention of Painful Sunburns."

Betty Foerster and Mabel Bartley have finally achieved their goal, and delight in owning their own chemistry labs. (So far no one has been blown up!)

All through high school, Ruth Davison's great problem was — how to keep warm. She has developed fur-lined shoes, her slogan being — "Get Heat Thru the Feet".

The Maggie and Mag Co., founded and operated by Margaret Fitzgerald and Margaret Kelleher has come upon a wonderful discovery. They have invented "Peggy's Pink Pill to Keep Those Pupils Quiet".

Barbara Williams has spent the last ten years trying to invent a new style — grip-seat riding-breeches — guaranteed to hold you to the saddle. But alas! The grip failed to serve the purpose, and poor Barbara is spending the next ten years in the hospital.

By the way, this hospital was endowed by Barbara Schuerch, better known as "Generous Schuerchie". Here Ralph D'Angelo is the superintendent, and on his staff are Claire Kearney, Martin Vorderer, and Phyllis McIsaac, all well-known surgeons. Incidentally Elinor Hylen is the new dietitian. Doris Moller is head of the X-ray department. Over her door is this inscription — "Come in and let us look thru you". Bustling through the wards in starched white are Marie Niland, Irene O'Donnell, Anna Mullen, and Estelle Gade. At night their duties are taken over by Mary McKenna, Genevieve O'Brien, and Virginia McArdle. We have no doubt that the patients are well taken care of. John McCloskey will verify that statement, for he has been a patient on and off. John is still playing football, you know. (It can't be those same injuries received at the Southie Game!) At the main desk of the hospital, Barbara Thompson takes care of the statistical work and instructs visitors as to the location of various rooms. With all these Roslindale graduates working here, the hospital rates tops, you can be sure!

Jean Ann MacKinnon has become a nurse, too, although her work is not in the hospital. She is a Visiting Public Health Nurse, a job for which she is well suited because of her cheery spirit and ability to make friends.

Ardis Oikle and Carol Mosher have entered a very altruistic profession, social service.

Now we scan the field of education. In various schools throughout New England a few of our scholarly classmates of '45 are experiencing the joys of teaching.

Joan Godkin is industriously teaching shorthand and typing to commercial high school students in Maine.

The pupils at Natick High are beginning to see double. The Silva twins have both been appointed teachers, and the students are often confused as to "Who's who at Natick High".

Without doubt, there is certainly going to be an aching group of girls at the schools where Virginia Merrill, Geraldine Lynch, and Geraldine Kelleher teach physical education. We can hear the groans now in rhythm with that — UP - 2-3-4, BEND - 2-3-4.

Geneva Christie, Eleanor Dordoni, Barbara Johnson, Muriel Franz and Mary Lou Boyle are teaching English to high school pupils. They must really have a way with their students. The latter are always browsing over books in the library where Marie Donoghue and Barbara Caldwell are in full charge. Gertrude Hampe is a steady customer at the library. She is the Adviser at Colby College, you know.

Marilyn Mahoney is instructing children in the lower grades, and Doris Jackson certainly has her hands full with her active kindergarten class.

Marie T. Sullivan has opened a unique lost and found department at Roslindale Square for pupils who are unable to keep track of their belongings — such as locker keys! Marie's sister and constant companion is still with her. Catherine takes care of the secretarial end of this Lost and Found Department.

Claire Corbo is teaching Latin now. After working so hard for Mr. Hartigan she had to put her knowledge to good use.

Among all these feminine instructors, but one boy has resorted to the art of teaching. Professor Paul Ballantine has an M41 class of his own now, — one which he actually attends! Some of his brilliant graduate students are Frank Fasano, Ed Sullivan, Joseph Tuleja, and Arthur Tweedie. They guarantee to solve all your problems!

A few alumnae of Roslindale 1945 have become educators. Sarah Joseph holds Elocution classes. It's Say-rah not Sa-rah.

Both Barbara Lawton and Adrienne Reid have dancing schools for little tots. After all these years, Marie Arends is still playing for dancing feet. No — not for the gym classes at R. H. S., but for the pupils of Miss Lawton and Miss Reid.

Leaving the teachers to their little darlings, we turn our prophetic gaze upon a group of our classmates who have entered vocations not so easily classified. Shall we call it the miscellaneous field?

There is Kathleen Scanlon, the great architect, who is in New York giving lectures on "How to Plan, Build, and Decorate a Home in Three Easy Lessons".

Eileen A. Connelly has been teaching society women how to crochet — with or without a hook!

Speaking of hooks, do not get involved in any way with the law because there will be a couple of shrewd men waiting to get you. The judge of the highest state court is Tom Stanton and the prosecuting attorney is Roland Driscoll. These gentlemen would be a hard duo to convince of one's innocence.

The most recent case brought before Justice Stanton was that of the State versus Moylan, in which the Moylan Laundry Co. was accused of breaking the buttons from State Senator Thomas Nee's very exclusive shirts. As usual, Prosecutor Driscoll so brilliantly influenced (or bribed) the jury that the verdict was speedily given, declaring Moylan guilty.

At a recent meeting of big business magnates, there were many familiar faces. Among them was Joe Gillis, now owner of a successful retail store. Joe often looks back on his days as a humble stock-boy at the Elm Farm. The monopoly of all the local candy business has been scooped up by financial wizard Fred Riley, who is now trying to buy out Thomas O'Connell's doll market. Tom started his career in Rossie demonstrating Red Cross gifts. Also present at the above weighty conference were Vincent Fischer and Donald Costello who control the printing and selling of all tickets for Boston sports events.

As for our class artist, Marjorie Ball, she is traveling the country putting on exhibitions of her widely known works of art. For every one of Marjorie's surrealist paintings, Martha Brooker has written an interpretative sonnet.

Power's Models have nothing on the Donovan Models. Jack has a pleasant business there. Modeling the Up-to-Date Styles for Ladies are Florence Pow, Patricia Lennon, and Jean Ledwell. With Alberta Stein, still possessing that debutante slouch, are Julia Ferguson, Adelaide Edmunds, and Jeanne Kilday who model the coming fashions for "Debs".

Although not one of the Donovan Models, Jeanne Farrenkoff is prominent in the fashion world. She demonstrates the latest fads in hair styles. Only Jeanne's pretty red hair can do justice to them.

Dorothy Strain and Patricia Roberts are touring the world as foreign correspondents. To their surprise they met Mary Kerrigan while on an assignment in Siberia. She has been doing wonderful work in improving living conditions among the natives there.

After studying for years as Rhodes Scholars, Bruce Morrison and Francis McCarthy are now ready to start their careers. Bruce has received a degree in English, and Francis is known as an expert on the Spanish language.

Mary McNamee and Barbara Travers have become "Flying Jennies" for the American Air Lines. However, they started on a flight from Boston to New York on one trip, got lost in a fog in Connecticut, and landed in Boston!

Also up in the air of our post-war world are pilots Donald Kidderis, David Holleran, and Donald Allen. It really takes a skillful navigator to attempt a flight over Boston and to dodge those aces!

Rita Kenney has gone into the bakery business. She was soundly reprimanded the other day by Mary Kinsella, head of the Rationing Board, when she put too much sugar in her biscuits.

In her spare moments as pharmacist, Jean Gardner is still mixing extra delicious sundaes and sodas. She's had loads of practice, so they should be "super" by this time.

The present postmasters of the Roslindale and Hyde Park Districts are Jim Cunningham and Bill Garvey. They got their start in the Christmas mail rush of '44 — remember?

Managing the Roll-Away Skating Rink are Mary Paglico and Anna Lesha. Their magnetic slogan is "Learn to Skate if You Want a Date". Night after night Mary and Anna whirl 'round and 'round instructing novices in the graceful art.

Speaking of whirling, is our tedious attempt to prognosticate your brilliant futures beginning to make you dizzy, too?

Perhaps we had better return to Cassandra her power of prophecy. — So, we leave you — no longer prophets but merely

Eleanor Sittig
Virginia McCoy
Janet Farrell
Alfred Broadhurst

CLASS WILL

We, the lofty and illustrious class of '45, of Roslindale High School, being sound in wind and limb, and in our usual state of nervous agitation, do hereby bequeath to teachers, associates, and lowly under-classmen all our worldly possessions.

To Mr. Warren, we leave our profound respect and everlasting gratitude for his understanding, cooperation, and patience. To him also goes a box of aspirin guaranteed to cure all future headaches caused by Seniors.

To Miss Kane, we leave with our sincere gratitude One Dozen Roses.

To Mr. Reynolds, we leave a key-case with the key to Room 11, so that he may have a room of his own.

To both Miss Walsh and Mrs. Gleekman, we leave an aspirin apiece from Mr. Warren's box.

To Miss Fogarty, we leave a platform so that her pupils may see her.

To Miss Learson, we leave a box of enriched cream of wheat!

To Miss Neal, we leave a Sophomore who will have the correct answer the first time.

To Miss Hernon, we leave a helicopter so that she may visit the girls at Filene's in the latest mode.

To Mr. Cunningham, we leave a set of larger baskets and smaller balls.

To Mr. Pickett, we leave a Physics class that can draw diagrams rather than doodles.

To Mr. Gabele, we leave a band that would put even Sousa's to shame.

To Mr. Hartin, we leave a square of concrete sidewalk that he may have a vantage-point from which to watch for smoke.

To Miss Cogan, we leave with envious glances towards her precious nylons.

To Mrs. Greene, we leave a group of girls with muscles to do push-ups.

To Miss Ward, we leave a magnetic metronome, which will pull those keys into perfect rhythm.

To Miss Wolfe, we leave a pair of figure-skates for her debut in the Ice-Follies of 1946.

To Miss Guiney, we leave all the gallant exploits of the class of '45 to record permanently in the school history.

To Miss Ruane, we leave a perfect debating team.

To Miss Stavrinos, we leave a Red Cross Box for her English-speaking Spanish pupils.

To Miss Martell, we leave a sufficient supply of pens to accommodate forgetful students.

To Miss Reilly, we leave some bimonthlies that would be less trouble for her — and less anxiety for us!

To Miss Reid, we leave a volume entitled The Late George Apley in memory of those few tardy pupils.

To Mr. MacGregor, we leave a new answer book to Plane Trigonometry, one which has the correct answers.

To Mr. Kaner, we leave pupils who have definitely made up their minds as to the course they are going to take.

To Mr. Murray, we leave a magic potion so that some future team will beat "Southie".

To Mr. Roche, we leave a year's supply of reluctant volunteers to house-clean Room 119.

To Miss Toland, we leave sunny weather for her vacation after a long siege with the year book.

To Miss Hamrock, we leave a show-case to display those museum pieces which have accumulated in the Lost and Found Department.

To the Misses Macleod, Rush, and Daly, we leave, still looking up.

To Miss Sullivan, we leave a golf-ball guaranteed always to find the hole.

To Miss Scannell, we leave a pocket edition of Fundamental Spanish for Army Air Corps.

To Miss Burke, we leave a compact and comb of her own, so that she won't have to take them from unfortunate pupils.

To Miss Flannelly, we leave a homeroom that will respond two minutes before the 8:55 bell.

To Miss Grandfield, we leave no less than one hundred geniuses for her Geometry classes.

To Miss Harrington, we leave an unbreakable and unlosable baton.

To Mr. Landrigan, we leave a larger lunchroom which will be a greater field for his talents.

To Mr. Donadio, we leave a magic wand to wave over the Bookkeeping papers so that they'll be easier to correct.

To Mr. Hartigan, we leave a new edition of Alice in Wonderland and a box of menthol cough-drops.

To Miss Aznive, we leave a class that will leave the Art Room as clean as a whistle.

To Mr. Keady, we leave a prompt class composed of pupils who never straggle in after the second bell.

To Miss Connor, we leave a faucet outside 224 that emits stirring strains of La Marseillaise.

To Mr. Gleason, Mr. McGuckian, Miss Kelley, and Miss Lauro, we leave an elevator to convey them to the upper stratosphere.

To Mr. Gately, we leave an E 86 class of his own!

To Mr. Conlin, we leave a special messenger to inform him of assembly schedules.

To Mrs. Kelley, we leave a push-cart to carry all her books.

To Mr. O'Brien, we leave two automatic cash registers which need no cashiers, and which will count and roll the money for him.

To Mrs. Clayton, we leave combination locks for those who insist upon losing their keys.

To Miss Fletcher and Miss Gordon, we leave Sophomores and Juniors who have decided their future vocations.

To Captain Burke, we leave boys who haven't two left feet.

To the Juniors, we leave five mirrored powder-rooms on each floor.

To the Sophomores, we leave knowing they'll last three years; we did!

Dotty Gummeson and Gloria Hale leave Miss Scannell two "petite but powerful" window supervisors.

Julie Nelson leaves Mr. Famiglietti the hope of finding another Jeanette McDonald.

Ruth Cusick leaves a charming voice to future orators.
 Janet Farrell leaves a part of her unfailing memory to "les élèves françaises".

Teddy Lougee (the third) leaves his suspenders, mustache, and shaving-mug.

Catherine Caulfield leaves a posture equal to that of any WAC.
Elouise Perkins leaves as "Butch".
Virginia Ziedelis leaves just loving to eat!
Edward Denn leaves his cute Vermont accent.
Richard Ferris and John Downey leave their silver cups — won in bowling and in football.
Eileen McDonald, Claire Wilson, and Janet Vincola leave silently.
Jean Schnetzer leaves — oh no, wait, he's coming right after her!
Al and Frank Broadhurst leave as perennial winners of the "American Derby".
Mary McGlinchey and Pauline Merlin leave as cute as ever.
Joe Manning leaves as Cupid.
Marjorie Kramer leaves full of the Old Nick.
Carolyn Morton leaves proclaimed "very intellectual" by her classmates.
Virginia Downey leaves her comb and giggles — what a combination!
Mary Bates, Doris Roach, and Nadine Haller leave — you'd never know they were around, — they're so quiet.
Doris Jones leaves the most money in S 34-107.
Thomas Garrity leaves an autographed copy of his scientific treatise, entitled, How to Reach the Lunchroom FIRST!
Janie Reid leaves her successful formula for making friends and influencing people.
Finally, each and every one of us, confident that we shall conquer the vast fields that lie before us, leaves a copy of the year's number one hit, Don't Fence Me In.
And so, being of unsound mind and failing memory, we conclude this immortal document of the brilliant and brainy class of nineteen hundred forty-five. Witnessed on this long-awaited day of June, in the City of Hope, State of Ambition by: -----

VALEDICTORY

It seems strange that we should use the word Commencement to designate the day on which we lay down for all time the school work we have carried on for so many happy years. Completion would seem to be a more appropriate term—completion of an education which prepares us in part for the great problems lying before us. Yet commencement is the truly significant word, for in this world everything that marks an end also marks a beginning. The end of one task is but the prelude to the next.

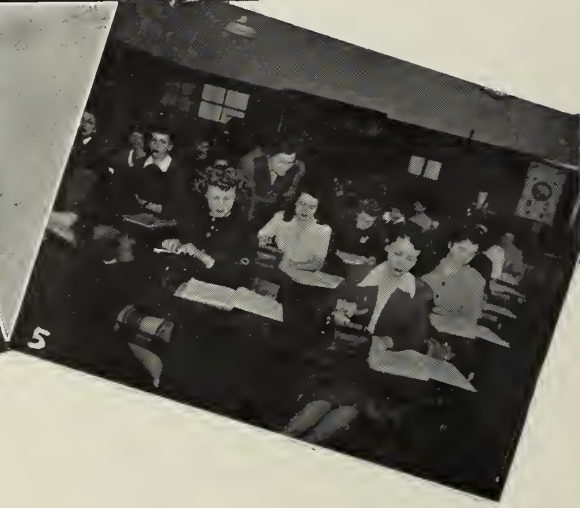

Until today, we have had the benefit of the experience and judgment of our teachers and parents to guide us. But now we are confronted with the necessity of making a momentous decision. Shall we further our studies by attending college, or shall we enter the world of business? How many of us have an objective as to our life's vocation? The temptation to forego a college education, in these days of high wages, is great. It would be folly to be influenced by temporary gains so that we would deprive ourselves of advantages far more important to our future than mere monetary considerations. On the other hand, those of us who have ambition to succeed in the business world would perhaps profit by obtaining employment at once. Whatever our decision, it will put to the test the principles we have learned. That is why it is so important in these trying times to have a definite plan of life, and to have the perseverance to follow it regardless of the obstacles which may arise. If the determination to achieve our goal is great enough, all difficulties will be overcome.

To you, Mr. Warren, and to the members of the faculty we wish to express our deep gratitude and appreciation for the guidance, counsel, and encouragement we have received from you. Your kindness and sympathetic understanding of our many problems have made our school work so much easier and more enjoyable. In later years may your hopes and confidence in us be justified and realized, and may our names be a credit to this school.

This day also marks our last meeting as the Class of 1945. As we ponder for a moment, we cannot help recalling the many happy days we spent working and playing together, and helping each other in our daily tasks. The ties that have bound us are about to be dissolved. And yet, as the years pass on, and we make new friends, let us not forget our associations in high school. It is that feeling of good fellowship that will remain with us all our lives to remind us that truly "our happiest days were those spent at Roslindale High School."

When we speak of comradeship, we realize that this day of joy for us is tinged with sadness for many of our classmates who are in the Armed Forces, and who cannot be with us. Let us all offer a silent prayer that God may protect them and bring them back safe to us soon, and that this world will again return to the brotherhood of peace and love.

LOIS WOLF

Seated: Mr. Francis Reynolds, Sponsor; Peter DeGeorge, Miss Margaret Kane, Sponsor; John McCloskey, Jean Schnetzer, Vail Haak.
Standing: Eleanor Lyons, Mary Cusack, Nancy Clark, Barbara Schuerch, Elinor Hylen, Alfred Broadhurst, Ruth Gately, Jean Beck.

SENIOR COUNCIL

The Senior Council, a group of fifteen, is composed of a representative from each homeroom, together with the class officers and the class advisers, Miss Kane and Mr. Reynolds. During the course of the year this group met and discussed subjects of vital importance to the Senior Class, such as the class pictures, Year Book, class dues, and arrangements for the Prom. Because of the good judgment and hard work of the Council, all the projects of the Class of 1945 have been most successful.

She's always quite full of fun,
I believe,
And usually has a trick or two up her sleeve.

BARBARA E. KHOURI
145 Metropolitan Avenue
Roslindale

Student Council 1
Barbara Khouri has spent much time,
In the good old Florida sunshine.
Her clothes are always neat and snappy,
And with her jokes she keeps you happy.

Anna is full of pep, vim, and vigor,
She seems to have lots and lots of it in her.

THOMAS F. LIMERICK

21 South Bourne Road
Jamaica Plain

"A good disposition is more valuable than gold; for the latter is the gift of fortune, but the former is the dower of nature."

ELEANOR LOCKETT

1943 Centre Street
West Roxbury

Football Cheerleader
Bowling Club 1
Vim, vigor, vitality are hers every day of the year. We wonder how she does it!

EDWIN LOUGEE III

161 Wachusett Street
Jamaica Plain

Tattler Representative 1
Year Book Staff
Edwin (no middle name)
Lougee the third;
In case you are new here, he is the bird
Who capers and dances through corridors daily
And who'll talk to you freely, and always quite gaily.

ADELAIDE L. LUIPPOLD

32 Manthorne Road
West Roxbury

Honor Student 2
"The talent of success is nothing more than doing what you can do well, without a thought of fame."

ROSLINDALE HIGH SCHOOL'S SECRETARIES

Here is a tribute to the two gracious ladies who help so much to make the school go round. . . . Miss Walsh and Mrs. Gleekman. Never has any one of us, no matter what our errand, entered the office without being pleasantly welcomed by one of its guardians. And as for those of us who have had the privilege of working under the direction of Miss Walsh or Mrs. Gleekman, we will always remember the many things they have taught us about managing an office from operating the switch-board to the more complicated business of keeping all kinds of people calm and happy.

THE TATTLER STAFF

The Tattler staff consists, first, of literary-minded students who find in the Tattler an outlet for their efforts. Guided by understanding teachers, Mr. Conlin, Miss Aznive, Miss Burke, and Mr. Landrigan, they produce and present articles which they think the members of the school will enjoy reading.

Secondly, there are the artists, who supply cover designs, pictures, and cartoons depicting life at Rossie.

Finally, the business and advertising departments manage the monetary part of the magazine. The members of these departments solicit advertisements and secure subscriptions.

With hard work on the part of everyone, the Tattler goes to press. When the finished product is finally viewed, the workers heave a sigh of satisfaction. Their reward is the knowledge of a job well-done and the appreciation of their schoolmates.

TATTLER REPRESENTATIVES

The students in this picture represent a very necessary part of the business organization of the Tattler. They are the ones who carry the school magazine to the public after the editors have done their part with their intellectual contributions. The conscientious and efficient representatives keep the Tattler out of the red. This year they have done a very successful piece of work, and for it they deserve our sincere thanks.

RED CROSS SURGICAL DRESSINGS UNIT

Every Wednesday afternoon in the Dressmaking Room, girls with aprons over their dresses and with bandanas covering their hair have made bandages to be sent to Army and Navy hospitals. Some of these girls are members of the Class of 1945, and since September 1942, when the Unit was organized in the Annex under the direction of Miss Toland, Miss Reid, and Miss Kelley, they have given an afternoon a week to this work. They have made all kinds of bandages as the need for them arose, but this year they have concentrated upon 4 x 4 bandages for use in operating-rooms, and upon blood-donor sponges. The Unit has sent more than 3,000 of each kind to the Boston Chapter of the American Red Cross.

It has not always been easy for the girls to devote Wednesday afternoons to this work, but the members of the Surgical Dressings Unit have been glad to do the little they could toward helping to win the war.

JUNIOR RED CROSS

As always, Roslindale is tops in Junior Red Cross activities under the direction of Miss Stavrinis. Every year our achievements make longer lists. Many hospitalized soldiers have experienced a brighter year because of our efforts. Hundreds of menu covers, tray favors, cookies, and gifts have been turned out by mass production. Many homeless orphans enjoyed a merrier Christmas because of the dolls and games which we had sent them.

The officers of the Junior Red Cross of Roslindale High School thank every teacher, boy, and girl with whose aid we have made such an excellent record.

THE DEBATING SOCIETY

Because of the many problems which will arise from the war and from the peace, the Debating Society has had a large number of interesting topics to discuss this year. One successful debate on the subject "Should there be compulsory military training after the war?" was given by Alba Fraccastoro, Priscilla Shaw, William McConnell, and Roy Davidson. Another question was "Should the legal voting age be reduced to eighteen?" Mildred Buckley, Betty Foley, Ralph Hiltz, and Joan Jacobson covered this subject very interestingly. A lively discussion developed over the next topic, "Should a president be limited to eight years in office?" Alice Kelleher and John Whitaker supported the affirmative, and Mary Martus and Patricia Holleran, the negative.

We have missed Dan Reilly, our president, who recently joined the Navy. Dan was an active member of the club in his junior year, and did a fine job as moderator at the first debate during 1944-45.

We wish to thank Miss Ruane, Miss Martell, Miss Reid, and Miss Toland for their guidance.

OFFICERS OF THE REGIMENT

Although, because of the number of boys who have already joined the services, the regiment is smaller in 1945 than usual, we are confident that under the training of Captain Burke and the leadership of the cadet officers, Roslindale High School again has a prize-winning outfit. When Competitive Prize Drill is over and the battalion commanders are selected, both cadets and their officers will create a smooth, efficient regiment, which will bring the usual honor and glory to Roslindale High School.

ORCHESTRA

The Roslindale High School orchestra under our new director, Mr. Joseph A. Trongone, assisted by Miss Lucile Harrington, is having a very successful year. Although our numbers have been somewhat reduced by the war, we still have a wide variety of instruments: violins, cellos, basses, clarinets, trumpets, mellophone, and drums. We have played at several assemblies this year: Columbus Day, Armistice Day, Lincoln's and Washington's Birthdays, Christmas, Honor Assemblies, the Night School Graduation, and we look forward to playing at our own graduation exercises in June. Our repertory has included marches, medleys, chorales, various types of dance and folk music, and the songs of the Armed Forces.

THE GLEE CLUB

Again the Glee Club has had a most satisfactory year. Under the skilled direction of Mr. Famiglietti, girls who are interested in music have had the opportunity to learn more about it, and to sing all types of compositions. Soloists have been discovered; trios have been formed; and a special group of twelve girls has concentrated upon the more difficult types of music. The Glee Club has not only benefited its individual members; the whole school has profited, too, by the Club's activity. This year the Glee Club has performed at several Assemblies, and all of us will remember particularly the excellence of its Christmas program.

First Row: Martha Early, Naomi Kharibian, Arlene Susi, Secretary; Dorothy Marble, Katherine Spyridakis, Carolyn Morton, Jeanne McDermott, Grace Charlton, Marjorie Gannon, Mary Beeman, Anna Mullen, Julie Nelson, Audrey Burke.

Second Row: Ruth Fitzgerald, Mary DeSisto, Shirley Rawding, Patricia Kilduff, Marie Sullivan, Joan Madden, Audrey Sacco, Phyllis Hansen, Barbara Fruh, Ruth-Marie Bratt, Martha Barber, Mary Martus, Patricia Praught, Elaine McLeod, Priscilla Farrant, Mary Fish, Marcia Beaupre, Ellen Devine, Jean Corcoran, Joan Bulat.

Fifth Rank: Henry Stober, Charles O'Hara, Robert Blute, Dominic Bright.

BAND

The Roslindale High School Band of 1944-45, although struggling to overcome a large drop in enrollment, has had a successful year under the efficient direction of Mr. Fortunato Sordillo, ably assisted by Mr. Gabele, Mr. Latham, and Mr. Gardner.

Since the organization consisted largely of Juniors and Sophomores, there being only two Seniors, several Juniors had a chance to become commissioned officers.

The trumpet section of the Band has displayed its merits several times by playing Christmas Carols in the school and in Roslindale Square. The Band in its entirety has played at various school functions: Assemblies, Competitive Drill, and the Schoolboy Parade. The school as well as the boys in the Band should be proud of a job well done.

DRUM AND BUGLE CORPS

The Roslindale High School Drum and Bugle Corps under the skillful and efficient direction of Mr. H. John Calabro, Mr. Arlie W. Latham, and Mr. Carl Gabele has grown into a very competent musical unit. As in past years, the Drum Corps has proved successful at the Street Parade and Prize Drill. Since the present corps is composed largely of sophomores and juniors, we will have even more experienced musicians in 1945-46.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION REPRESENTATIVES

The Athletic Association Representatives have proved their worth this year. Last fall, everyone in the building met at least one of these workers and immediately displayed the buttons so persuasively sold to them. For the rest of the school term the athletic teams have profited by the representatives' efforts, for the equipment needed for all the sports was provided by the money the representatives accumulated. On the record they established, the Athletic Association Representatives should become super-salesmen and saleswomen.

FOOTBALL

Roslindale High had one of its best football seasons in 1944, for we won seven games. Most of the players on the first team were seniors, and it was their brilliant playing that pulled Rossie through many tight spots and paved the way for our successful gridiron year.

Rossie had one of the best lines in the city, and it was the playing of such linesmen as "Big Jim" Mulrooney, Dick Sturtevant, Dick Gleason, John Gilbertson, Robert Brennan, Dick Ruggiero, and John Whittaker that went far in establishing such a reputation. The opposition found it hard to stop the line plunges of John McCloskey, Dom Bright, and "Red" Joyce, and the end runs of "Pee Wee" Stanton, "Doc" Festa, "Gink" Ballantine, and "Sparky" Boudreau.

Much credit for our success, however, must go to Coach Murray, who formed a winning team from the few boys who were able to try out for football. We feel certain that he will continue to mold such winning teams as that of 1944 - 1945.

Third Row: Donald Sellers, Wilbur Boudreau, Albert Reddy, Richard Gleason.

HOCKEY

Roslindale's Hockey Team had a satisfactory season, winning three games and losing two. Jamaica Plain, Brandeis, and Charlestown fell before the maroon and gold attack, while East Boston and Brighton nosed out victories.

Dan Costello, "Sparky" Boudreau, Paul Brady, Harvey Corbo, Dick Pero, and Dick Gleason comprised two of the fastest forward walls in the city; George Wiegold and Jim Mulrooney efficiently supported goalie Don Sellers.

In spite of adverse weather conditions which allowed the sextet only one day of real practice, the team made a remarkable record.

BASKETBALL

The 1945 Basketball Team had a good season, considering the number of boys participating and their limited experience in playing the game.

Before enthusiastic audiences in our own gymnasium we scored victories over Dorchester, Trade, and B. C. High, as well as wins over Jamaica Plain and Brighton in their gyms.

Two members of the senior class participated in this sport: Ray Arnold as a regular at the forward position, and Vail Haak in the guard slot. Other members of the team were four juniors: Paul Andersen, a standout at forward, was the season's high scorer; George Khouri, a regular at guard, and Buck Buckroth at guard, and Fred Wood at forward. Two sophomores completed the first lineup: Andy Mantineo and Bob Lynch, both forwards.

Congratulations to Mr. Cunningham and his team of 1945 which has laid the groundwork for an even better season in 1946.

First Row: George Khouri, James Cunningham, Paul Andersen, Raymond Arnold, Andrew Mantineo.
Second Row: David O'Meara, Vail Haak, Robert Lynch, Arnold Buckroth, Dominic Bright, Warren Fegan, Fred Wood, Robert Schultz, Mr. Cunningham.

First Row: Paul Ballantine, Richard Hawkes, John McCloskey, Joseph Manning, John Whittaker, Edward Maguire, Alan Keiran.

Second Row: Richard Ruggiero, William McConnell, Richard Heimuller, Joseph Regan, Russell Boates, Austin Troy, Ralph D'Angelo, Mr. Murray.

TRACK

Piling up an impressive record, the track team has enjoyed its best season in many years. The Maroon and Gold speedsters, under Coach Murray's expert supervision, led all the District Schools in the State Meet at Boston Garden, and at the Regimental Meet. They gained an undisputed second place at the District Meet as well as taking first in two out of three regular meets.

Alan Kieran, Buddy Hawkes, Dick Hiemuller, Ed Maguire, and Russ Boates did a fine job in Class D. Rossie can safely look forward to their success in carrying the school colors during the next two years.

In Class C, Dick Ruggiero, Joe Regan, Bob Rando, John Whittaker, John Ballard, John Caulfield, and Charles Carnabuci brought Roslindale many of its points.

Class A-B, the mainstay of the team, was composed largely of seniors although some juniors appear in the list. Paul Ballantine, John McCloskey, Jack McCarthy, Vincent Millins, Jim Conboy, John Downey, Joe Tuleja, Ralph D'Angelo, Austin Troy, Dick Troy, and Herb Schank did much toward putting the team in its leading place and in bringing new and welcome honors to the school.

BASEBALL

From the beginning of the season, Roslindale's Baseball Team has done well, and has every evidence of becoming a better-than-average club. The team which handed a 13-0 defeat to Charlestown High was composed of Nicky Nickerson, pitcher; Dom Bright, catcher; Jim Cunningham, first base; Rah Ruggiero, second base; Sparky Boudreau, third base; Doc Festa, short stop; Bob Lynch, left field; Arnold Buckroth, center field; Harvey Corbo, right field. Substitutes for the team are Bobby Richmond; Ray Arnold, Charlie Steeger, and Bill Hooley. Other first line pitchers are Bob McEwen and Frannie Hailer.

INTERESTED IN EMPLOYMENT
WITH A FUTURE

If employed at the Telephone Company you'll be helping to win the war, because communications is one of the most essential wartime industries. At the same time you will earn good money under pleasant working conditions.

Here is an opportunity offering you far more than "just a place to work." Girls of the Senior Class should investigate this opportunity. Training courses may be arranged so as not to interfere with studies or graduation. Girls in the Junior Class are welcome to make inquiries looking to employment later on.

Good salary from the time you start training, and prospects for advancement. Whether you stay with us a few years or many, you will find the wholesome, congenial atmosphere of telephone work abundantly worth while.
